FROM THE DIRECTOR'S DESK

As you'll see from the stories below, there's a lot going on at McQuade! We are growing and changing to meet the expanding needs of our students, faculty and staff. We have new online resources, a revived book group, and a new librarian for you to meet. Drop by the Open House on Oct 17 and see what we have to offer!

~ Kathryn Geoffrion Scannell

Welcome, Elizabeth!

Please join McQuade in welcoming Elizabeth Sarkodie-Mensah to the library staff as our newest part-time Instruction/Liaison Librarian.

Elizabeth received a Ph.D. in Social Anthropology from Harvard University and an M.S.L.S. in Library Science from Clarion University. She has extensive experience in academic, public, and law libraries, and brings international experience to McQuade having recently worked in Ghana, West Africa. Elizabeth provides reference services during Monday evenings, Wednesday mornings, and Sunday evenings. Please stop by the Research Center to meet Elizabeth!

First Floor McQuade Magazines

Grab a cup of coffee and peruse the latest issue of popular weekly magazines now on a shelf near ZeBi. Titles include Bloomberg Business Week, Entertainment Weekly, New Yorker, People, Sports Illustrated, Time, Chronicle of Higher Education and more. Please return McQuade magazines to the shelf when done.

FYE Students enjoying QR Code Tour

Head of Instruction & Outreach Lyena Chavez partnered with First Year Coordinator Sara Quagliaroli to create a QR Code Academic Resources walking tour for nearly 200 students participating in the First Year Experience program. Sara and Lyena, with the help of many of their colleagues, created an interactive, fun, memorable experience that introduced students to the amazing academic resources available at McQuade.

First year students were issued library ipads and maps that enabled them to take self-guided tours and travel throughout the library. Students visited the 1st floor Help Desk, Media Center, Research Center, IT, Center for Academic Enrichment, Writing Center, and Math Center. Using library ipads or their own smartphones, first year students scanned the QR codes at each station and watched an accompanying video to learn about that area of McQuade. These engaging video clips featured a mix of students and staff members.

First Year Experience students truly enjoyed taking the multimedia walking tour and learning about the multitude of resources available at McQuade to help them achieve their academic goals.

Special thanks to Kevin Salemme, Joseph St. Germain, C.J. Wong, Lucky Henry, Anthony Brunco, Diane Shaw, Ronald Geffrard, and Brittany Rochelau for helping make this project a success!

FYE Students at IT

More McQuade magazines and newspapers are in the second floor yellow ERC area. Free take-away newspapers (Boston Globe, New York Times, and USA Today) are at McQuade's entrance.

Merrimack ScholarWorks Update

Open Access literature is free, digital and available to anyone online. At Merrimack, our institutional repository Merrimack ScholarWorks houses the college community's collection of open-access material. Broadly defined, an institutional repository is a digital collection that captures and preserves the intellectual output of our college communities. Our site went live in February, 2013. As we approach our first year anniversary, we have thus far added 71 items and achieved more than 4417 downloads. That is 4417 times that someone, somewhere in the world took the time to access scholarship and other works that were created by members of the Merrimack community, faculty and students!

Help us break a digital record and double the number of items in the repository by February 2014!

Know someone who would like to contribute their scholarship to Merrimack ScholarWorks?

Have them contact scholarworks@merrimack.edu

New Student Workers!

McQuade Library is pleased to welcome the following recently hired Student Workers

Brianna Roberts, Access Services Student Worker, is a freshman majoring in finance with a minor in economics. She attended the smallest public school in Massachusetts with just 32 other students, and the small class sizes helped draw her to Merrimack, as well as the strong sense of community and social involvement.

Karamarie Joyce, Media Services Student Worker, is a junior majoring in Mass Communication. She hopes to assist students and faculty with equipment that Media Services provides. In addition to working in Media Services, Kara is also Editor in

Oxford Language Dictionaries Online-OLDO

There are free language dictionaries on the web, but often you need something more reliable. Bookmark OLDO for Chinese, French, German, Italian, Russian, and Spanish words and phrases and hear words spoken by a native speaker. You can also see word equivalents in Arabic, Portuguese, Polish, Japanese, Korean and Thai. Find out more here.

Do you need something with more nuances of the English language or more specialized vocabulary and descriptive essays? Don't forget we have the Oxford English Dictionary, Credo Reference and other works online.

Picking Out a Book

Whether looking for a follow-up to Paradise Lost or a Stephen King novel there are now so many ways to discover your next best read. Look up a book in the Library Catalog and scroll down for recommendations, awards, excerpts and more. Search Novelist Plus to discover new authors and titles in your favorite genre. For a more academic tone, try Choice or Resources for College Libraries.

For children's books there is Horn Book Guide Online, Novelist K-12 and CLCD-Children's Literature Comprehensive Database. And for downloadable ebooks and audiobooks (great for long commutes!) on your mobile device try ebrary and Overdrive. All are available on and off campus. Novelist and Overdrive come to us through our consortium NOBLE.

Did you know the library has a reserve shelf of materials designed to enhance faculty understanding of international students? Are you seeking assistance to successfully engage international students in the academic enterprise at Merrimack and thus create a rewarding pedagogical experience for you and your students?

Click here to find resources that may answer questions you have on the classroom experience; advising ESL students; understanding and appreciating the rich cultural value these students bring to the classroom. Reserve materials are available at the Library's first floor help desk.

Librarians Donna Maturi and Elizabeth Sarkodie-Mensah are both members of the International Leadership Team and welcome the opportunity to assist you in this important work here at the College.

Magazine Exchange

McQuade Library is excited to offer space to recycle recent magazines and journals to a new reader. Located outside the lecture hall in the basement is a magazine exchange. Feel free to bring and/or take magazines from this area. Stock up on reading materials for a long plane ride, Thanksgiving Break, or to take to the gym. You'll find a variety of reading genres represented; there is something for everyone! Enjoy this green initiative!
